GETTING STARTED:

- CONSULT AN EXPERT: Talk to an educator, consultant, or even a family friend who is a veteran homeschooler who can offer sound advice on all that homeschooling entails.
- DO YOUR RESEARCH: You'll need to learn about your state's requirements for homeschooling. Also, begin to research different curricula and online learning platforms and figure out which products best suits your family's needs.
- REVIEW BEST PRACTICES: Get familiar with best practices! Join online support groups, participate in trainings, and stay abreast of changing state and federal laws.
- CREATE A PLAN: Plan out your curriculum for the school year and set a daily or weekly schedule for your child, taking their personality and learning style into account and your family's circumstances.
- EVALUATE AND RE-EVALUATE YOUR PLAN: Always look for opportunities to improve upon your curriculum and homeschooling methods.

For assistance with setting up your homeschooling program, or to take advantage of Gillis Education's homeschooling program, email us at info@gilliseducation.org or visit our website to set up a free consultation:
